By signing, I agree to the terms on the back of this form. I will pay any amount due, and/or I authorize the Troop to debit the Scout's Account, if necessary. (See back for more details, including cancelation procedures.)

- If a participant must cancel, he/she must notify the Outing Coordinator directly, either by phone or email. The participant must receive an acknowledgement from the coordinator that the message was received. It is the participant's responsibility to follow up with the coordinator until the cancellation is validated.
- If a participant cancels, the participant will be responsible for all portions of the trip already planned and/or paid for, including--but not limited to--deposits, facility fees, food costs, transportation planning, etc.

In addition,

- If a participant is included in the transportation numbers, the participant is responsible for their part of the transportation fee, even if they arrive or depart by alternate means
- If a participant arrives late or leaves early for any reason, the participant is still responsible for the full cost of the outing
